

You say you came back to me but I am excentric like a comet

From my archipelago of solitude far from your daily routines

I felt your pull and flew far to your circular orbit at the escape velocity that of the light of your gleaming eyes

Sometimes the desert island comes to the sailor