

What a waste
I tell myself

This whole bread
stale
which you forgot
at the back of the cupboard

I remember the loaf
warm and tender
like a promise of young love

and

— Let's make French toasts!
you say