

Her dangling arms
abandoned to the wind
like lianas

gently beat
to the rhythm of her steps

The choir of trees
around us
murmurs while staring
at the divine pendulums

waiting for a sign

Listen

Hear the deer
and its deep chest
darkly drumming
an untamed song