

Her dangling arm
abandoned to the wind
like a liana

gently beats
to the rhythm of her steps

The divine pendulum

discreetly counts
on the finger tips

secretly composes
a march on a staff