[Only you should read my poems]

Only you should read my poems,
you who knows and loves me,
since you sail the void
and knows what will come, like a soothsayer,

for the silence<sup>1</sup> appeared in your dreams
in human form,
and in your heart sometimes linger
the tiger and the tame roe deer.

<sup>1</sup>József sometimes refers to his soul as a silence (csend), like here, or a muteness (némaság). See The leaves in the tree, page 35.

[Csak az olvassa versemet]

Csak az olvassa versemet,
ki ismer engem és szeret,
mivel a semmiben hajóz
s hogy mi lesz, tudja, mint a jós,

mert álmaiban megjelent
emberi formában a csend
s szívében néha elidőz
a tigris meg a szelid őz.

---

A tired man

Solemn peasants in the fields
commence their silent journey home.
We lie next to each other, the river and I;
tender grasses slumber under my heart.

A vast serenity rolls down with the placid river,
cares and burdens leave me to become dew;
neither man nor child,
neither Hungarian nor brother,
only a tired man who lies here.

The evening dispenses its peace,
I am a slice from its warm bread;
the sky too rests now on the calm Maros river,
and they sit out on my forehead, the stars.

Megfáradt ember

A földeken néhány komoly paraszt
hazafelé indul hallgatag.
Egymás mellett fekszünk: a folyó meg én,
gyenge füvek alusznak a szívem alatt.

A folyó csöndes, nagy nyugalmat görget,
harmattá vált bennem a gond és teher;
se férfi, se gyerek, se magyar, se testvér,
csak megfáradt ember, aki itt hever.

A békességet szétosztja az este,
meleg kenyereből egy karaj vagyok,
pihen most az ég is, a nyugodt Marosra
s homlokomra kiülnek a csillagok.

---

Net

My hair falls, I have no bread,
the dip pen is worn out,
my uncle the fisherman has passed away.
Others live like this too.

I cast my nerves like a net
to catch something to eat
and light dreams on heavy waters.

It might be torn, I reckon, my net.
I take it out to hang, I mend it
and, lo and behold, I see:

The sky is my spread-out,
frozen net — it glitters;
they are its icy knots sparkling,
the stars.

Háló

Hull a hajam, nincs kenyerem,
tollam vásik,
halász bátyám így veszett el.
Él így más is.

Idegeim elmerítem,
mint a hálót,
húst fogni s a nehéz vizen
könnyű álmot.

Szakadt lehet — gondolkozom, —
az én hálóm.
Kiaggatom, megfoltozom.
S íme, látom —

Kiterített fagyos hálóm
az ég, ragyog —
jeges bogai szikrázón
a csillagok.

---

Why did you speak harshly to me?

Why did you speak harshly to me?
I didn't hurt you, my friend;
for some reason you are angry,
I heartily beg your forgiveness,
and I would like you to come with me now
to see the woodcutters
and lie down with me in the forest;
the foliage will billow above our heads,
from the cool seabed we will look at the sky
where nascent clouds start becoming leaves.
There, a vast serenity will embrace us
and will be so good for us now,
thrice as good if two receive it,
that is why I would like you to be with me
till the bell chiming is heard in the evening;
we will pick the thistles off each other
and stroll back home just as tiredly,
like the farm hands with the hoes,
taciturn labourers who,
in the pacifying power of the fields,
sowed hundredfold yielding seeds.

Miért mondottál rosszat nékem

Miért mondottál rosszat nékem?
Én nem bántottalak, barátom, Hogyha valamiért haragszol,
szívesen bocsánatot kérek
s szeretném, ha most velem jönnél, megnézzük majd a favágókat
s leheverünk együtt az erdőn,
fejünk fölött hullámszakad a lombok,
hús tengerfenékről az eget nézzük,
ahol meg zsenge felhők lombosodnak.
Ott nagy nyugalom karol majd belénk
és nekünk az most olyanigen jó lesz,
háromszoros a jó, ha kettő kapja,
azért szeretném, hogyha velem lennél,
míg odahallik este a harangszó,
a bogáncsokat leszedjük egymásról
s hazaballagunk éppolyan fáradtan,
miként a kapás, szórtalan munkások,
akik a földek békés erejébe
százannyit termő magokat vetettek.

[You are so silly]

You are so silly.

You run like the morning wind,
sometime you'll be knocked down by a car.
By the way, I scrubbed clean my little table,
and now the tender light of my bread shines purer.

Well, come back; if you want
I'll buy a blanket for my iron bed.
A plain, grey blanket.
It will suit my Poverty, who loves you,
and the Lord loves you also very much,
and He also loves me.
The Lord never comes in a blaze of glory,
He doesn't want to ruin my eyes,
which long to see you,
and will look at you very beautifully.
When you come back,
I will kiss you carefully,
I won't rip off your coat.
I will tell you all the many jokes,
because I devised many since then,
and how merry you'll be and blush,
how you'll look down to the ground,
and we will crack up,
and we will be heard by our neighbours
and even by the taciturn,
austere day labourers who,
amidst their tired, shattered dreams,
will then begin to smile too.

---

[Olyan bolond vagy]

Olyan bolond vagy
szaladsz
akár a reggeli szél.
Még elüt valamelyik autót.
Pedig lesikáltam kis asztalomat és most
tisztábban világít kenyérem enyhe fénye.
No gyere vissza, ha akarod
veszek takarót vaságyamra.
Egyszerű, szürke takarót.
Illik az
szegénységemhez, aki szeret téged
és az Úr is szereti nagyon
és engem is szeret az Úr
nem jön soha nagy fényességgel Nem akarja, hogy elromoljanak
szemeim, akik
nagyon kívánnak látni téged.
És nagyon szépen néznek majd terád
ha visszajössz
vigyázva foglak megcsókolni,
nem tépem le rólad a kabátot
és elmondom mind a sok tréfát,
mert sokat kieszelttem azóta,
hogy te is örülj,
majd elpirulsz,
lenézel a földre és kacagunk
hangosan, hogy behallatszik szomszédunkba
a szótlán, komoly napszámosokhoz is behallik
és fáradt, összetört
álmodban majd elmosolyodnak ők is.

[Freight trains switching]

Freight trains switching
— the dreamy clanking
claps the mute landscape
in light handcuffs.

The moon soars effortlessly,
like a prisoner set free.

The crushed stones lie
in their own shadow,
they sparkle for themselves,
they are in their place
like never before.

What shard of the vast nighttime
is this heavy night,
that it falls down on us
like a chunk of iron on the dust?

Desire born of the sun!
When shadows cover the bed,
could you too stay awake
the whole night?

At the front of the warehouse
a dusty lamp burns.
It is just visible, not luminous;
such is wishful thinking:
it blinks livelily,
but the sky is a large, dead light.

[Tehervonatok tolatnak]

Tehervonatok tolatnak,
a méla csörömpölés
könnyű bilincseket rak
a néma tájra.

Oly könnyen száll a hold,
mint a fölszabadult.

A megtört kövek
önnön árnyukon fekszenek,
csillognak
maguknak,
úgy a helyükön vannak,
mint még soha.

Milyen óriás éjszaka
szilánkja ez a sulyos éj,
mely úgy hull le ránk,
mint a porra a vasszilánk?

Napszülte vágy!
Ha majd árnyat fogad az ágy,
abban az egész éjben
is ébren
maradnál?

A raktár
előtt poros lámpa ég.
Csak látszik, nem világít,
ilyen az ész, ha áhit.
Pislog élénken, holott
nagy halott
fény az ég.

Consciousness

I

Dawn unbinds sky from earth
and upon its clear, soft word
beetles and children spin forth
into the daylight;
there is no moisture in the air,
the bright levity floats!
Overnight they alighted on the trees
like small butterflies, the leaves.

II<sup>2</sup>

I saw paintings daubed with blue,
red, yellow in my dreams
and felt that everything was just so —
not one speck of dust flying madly about.
Now blurred, my dream comes down into
my limbs,
and the iron world is the order.
During the day a moon rises inwardly and,
when the night is out, a sun shines herewithin.

---

<sup>2</sup>Verses 1-4 are about the night, verses 5-7 transition to the day, and verse 8 brings us back to the night.

Eszmélet

I<sup>3</sup>

Földtől eloldja az eget
 a hajnal s tiszta, lágy szavára
 a bogarak, a gyerekek
 kipörögnek a napvilágra;
 a levegőben semmi pára,
 a csilló könnyűség lebeg!
 Az éjjel rászálltak a fákra,
 mint kis lepkék, a levelek.

II<sup>4</sup>

Kék, piros, sárga, összekent
 képeket láttam álmaimban
 és úgy éreztem, ez a rend —
 egy szálló porszem el nem hibbant.
 Most homályként száll tagjaimban
 álmom s a vas világ a rend.
 Nappal hold kél bennem s ha kinn van
 az éj — egy nap süt idebent.

III<sup>5</sup>

I am thin, at times I only eat bread;
amidst those idle and blithering souls,
I seek in vain more certainty, like the die.
No chuck roast reaches my mouth
while I cuddle a small child to my heart —
however clever, the cat cannot catch at once
the mouse outdoors and the mouse indoors.

IV<sup>6</sup>

Just like a pile of logs,
the world lies in a jumble;
each thing presses, weighs on,
holds fast to the next,
and so everything is determined.
Only what is not has a shrub,
only what will be can flower;
what is falls to pieces.

<sup>5</sup>József cannot pursue his art and, at the same time, keep a job that would put food on his table. Cuddling a small child to his heart is his metaphor for the creation of poetry. József is the cat in verses 6-7.

<sup>6</sup>‘To be or not to be’ is usually construed as the dichotomy between life and death. József tells us that not-to-be is potential beauty, whereas to-be is actual death.

III<sup>7</sup>

Sovány vagyok, csak kenyeret
 eszem néha, e léha, locska
 lelkek közt ingyen keresek
 bizonyosabbat, mint a kocska.
 Nem dörgölődzik sült lopcska számhoz s szivemhez kisgyerek —
 ügyeskedhet, nem fog a macska
 egyszerre kint s bent egeret.

IV<sup>8</sup>

Akár egy halom hasított fa,
 hever egymáson a világ,
 szorítjanyomja, összefogja
 egyik dolog a másikat
 s így mindenik determinált.
 Csak ami nincs, annak van bokra,
 csak ami lesz, az a virág,
 ami van, széthull darabokra.

V<sup>9</sup>

At the freight train station,
I lay down behind the tree
like a chunk of silence;
a grey weed reached my mouth,
raw, strange-sweet.
Playing dead, I watched the guard — sensing what? —
and his shadow on the quiet wagons
stubbornly leaping at the bright, dewy coal.

VI<sup>10</sup>

Behold the anguish inside,
yet the explanation lies outside.
Your wound is the world
— on fire, burning up —
and you feel your soul, the fever.
You are captive as long as your heart rebels
— so you will be free if it indulges
not building for yourself a house
where a landlord settles in.

<sup>9</sup>This is likely a memory from Józef's childhood, when his family was so poor that he would occasionally steal lumps of coal from the wagons at the freight train station nearby his home.

<sup>10</sup>We are not captives of the world, but of our own heart, which invited the world (the landlord) in for us to contend with. The inner struggle is felt as anguish and yields a feverish soul.

V<sup>11</sup>

A teherpályaudvaron
 úgy lapultam a fa tövéhez,
 mint egy darab csönd; szürke gyom
 ért számhoz, nyers, különös-édes.
 Holtan lestem az őrt, mit érez,
 s a hallgatag vagónokon
 árnyát, mely ráugrott a fényes,
 harmatos szénre konokon.

VI<sup>12</sup>

Im itt a szenvedés belül,
 ám ott kívül a magyarázat.
 Sebed a világ — ég, hevül
 s te lelkedet érzed, a lázat.
 Rab vagy, amíg a szíved lázad —
 úgy szabadulsz, ha kényedül
 nem raksz magadnak olyan házat, melybe háziúr települ.

VII<sup>13</sup>

I looked up from beneath the evening
 to the cogwheels of the heavens:
 from the glittering threads of chance
 the loom of the past wove the law;
 and I looked up again onto the sky
 from beneath the steam of my dreams,
 and I saw the fabric of the law
 always tearing up somewhere.

VIII<sup>14</sup>

The silence listened intently — One struck.
 You could visit your childhood;
 between the damp cement walls
 you could imagine a bit of freedom
 — I thought. And as soon as I stood up, the stars, the Great Bear were glittering above
 like the grilles up in the silent cell.

---

<sup>13</sup>Whereas verses 1-2 echo the ancient mechanical understanding of the firmament as concentric spheres, and verses 2-4 hearken back at the mythological Fates (Parcæ), verses 5-8 evoke the image of an aerostat, whose aeronaut is József, where his dreams are the steam that tries to lift him up, and the law is the envelope, whose tears are József's constant misfortune. (The metaphor is a little off, as balloons use hot air, not steam.)

<sup>14</sup>This is likely a memory of József's imprisonment in 1931.

VII<sup>15</sup>

Én fölnéztem az est alól
 az eget fogaskerekére —
 csilló véletlen szálaiból
 törvényt szőtt a mult szövőszéke
 és megint fölnéztem az égre
 álmaim gőzei alól
 s láttam, a törvény szövedéke
 mindig fölfeslik valahol.

VIII<sup>16</sup>

Fülelt a csend — egyet ütött Fölkereshetnéd ifjúságod;
 nyirkos cementfalak között képzelhetsz egy kis szabadságot — gondoltam. S hát hát amint fölállok
 a csillagok, a Göncölök
 úgy fénylenek fönt, mint a rácsok
 a hallgatag cella fölött.

5-8: á-o(9)/ö-ö(8)/á-o(9)/ö-ött(8)

IX<sup>17</sup>

I heard iron weeping,
 I heard rain laughing.
 I saw that the past was cracked
 and that only memories may be forgotten,
 and how I cannot but love,
 bending under my burdens
 — why should I also forge a weapon
 out of you, golden self-awareness!

X<sup>18</sup>

He is a grown man he who has
 neither mother nor father in his heart,
 he who knows that he receives life
 as a supplement to death, and will return it anytime, like a found object
 — therefore he treasures it,
 he who is neither a god nor a priest,
 neither to himself nor to others.

<sup>17</sup>Verses 1-2 refer to the sounds of iron being forged and quenched in water. The blacksmith is fixing a crack, which reminds József of a painful past event, possibly a break-up. Verses 3-6 form a chiasm: verse 5 echoes verse 4: to avoid his love fading away, he will keep loving; verse 6 answers verse 3: instead of hammering the crack to make it disappear, József bends under it. Then there is no need to forge a sword blade to become strong. József's self-consciousness is golden like the glow of the kiln's interior.

<sup>18</sup>The integral man (or woman) knows that his parents cannot protect him anymore from the truth of mortality. This truth is not treasured by gods, as they are immortal, nor by Christian priests, who preach eternal life.

IX<sup>19</sup>

Hallottam sírni a vasat, hallottam az esőt nevetni.
 Láttam, hogy a mult meghasadt
 s csak képzetet lehet feledni;
 s hogy nem tudok mást, mint szeretni,
 görnyedve terheim alatt —
 minek is kell fegyvert veretni
 belőled, arany öntudat!

X<sup>20</sup>

Az meglett ember, akinek
 szívében nincs se anyja, apja,
 ki tudja, hogy az életet
 halálra ráadásul kapja
 s mint talált tárgyat visszaadja
 bármikor — ezért őrzí meg,
 ki nem istene és nem papja
 se magának, sem senkinek.

XI<sup>21</sup>

I saw happiness; it was soft, bright
 and one and half a quintal.
 On the coarse grass of the farmyard
 its curly smile swayed.
 It plopped into the squishy, tepid puddle,
 squinted, further grunted at me once —
 To this day I see how hesitantly
 the sunlight toyed with its bristles.

XII

I live by a railroad.
 Many a train comes and goes,
 and I watch from afar
 how the bright windows fly by
 in the wavering, fluffy darkness.
 So the lit-up days rush into the eternal night,
 and I stand in the compartments' light,
 I rest on my elbow and remain silent.

<sup>21</sup>While this seems a rather descriptive poem, the first and last two verses are subjective. Also the last verse echoes the first, in the fashion of a chiasm: verse 1 is about seeing happiness, and the last features light and playfulness: the Hungarian uses fény for 'light', but it could figuratively also mean 'joy', hence my translation: 'the sunlight toyed'.

XI<sup>22</sup>

Láttam a boldogságot én,
 lány volt, szőke és másfél mázsa.
 Az udvar szigorú gyöpén
 imbolygott göndör mosolygása.
 Ledőlt a puha, langy tócsába,
 hunyorgott, rőffent még felém —
 ma is látom, mily tétovázva
 babrált pihéi közt a fény.

XII<sup>23</sup>

Vasútnál lakom. Erre sok
 vonat jön-megy és el-elnézem,
 hogy' szállnak fényes ablakok
 a lengedező szösz-sötétben.
 Így iramlanak örök éjben
 kivilágított nappalok
 s én állok minden fülke-fényben,
 én könyöklök és hallgatok.

[You will grow old and come to regret]

You will grow old and come to regret
how you hurt me
— which you are proud of today.
The conscience will come knocking
and won't leave you alone in any memory.

You will have an old dog that will settle next
to you.

You will rest during the day,
dozing off on a chair
because you are afraid alone at night.
Shadows will fall on the trembling old lady.

Your old dog will whine sometimes,
but the room falls silent again, all is in order,
and yet someone from the past
is missing in the lonely silence.

You will toddle
and when your bad leg has tottered enough,
you will sit down. Your youthful picture stands above in a golden frame.
You will mumble to it: 'I didn't embrace him,
obviously I didn't love him.'

'What could I have done?' — you ask,
but your toothless mouth can no longer answer;
facing the sun outside, you close your eyes,
you can barely wait for the moon to rise.

---

[Majd megöregszel és bánni fogod]

Majd megöregszel és bánni fogod,
hogy bántasz — azt, amire büszke vagy ma.
A lelkiismeret majd bekopog
s nem lesz emlék, melyben magadra hagyna.

Lesz vén ebed s az melléd települ.
Nappal pihensz majd, széken szunyókálva,
mert éjjel félni fogsz majd egyedül.
Árnyak ütnek a rezgő anyókára.

Az öreg kutya néha majd nyafog,
de a szobában csend lesz, csupa rend lesz;
hanem valaki hiányozni fog
a multból ahhoz a magányos csendhez.

Majd tipegsz s ha eleget totyogott
rossz lábad, leülsz. Fönn aranykeretben áll ifju képed. Hozzá motyogod:
„Nem öleltem meg, hiszen nem szerettem.”

„Mit is tehettem volna?” — kérdezed,
de fogatlan szád már nem válaszolhat;
s ki a nap előtt lehunyod szemed,
alig várod, hogy feljöjjen, a holdat.

[...]

Because when you fall asleep, the bed will leap
like a foal trying to throw off its harness.
And fear, not desire, will occupy your head:
should you love him,
should you not love him?

Decide for yourself.
I regret that I cannot answer if you ask:
is he alive?
Because the sorrow inside is tired,
it falls asleep like a child, and I with it.

Mert ha elalszol, ugrál majd az ágy,
mint a csikó, hogy a hámot levesse.
S a félelem tűnődik, nem a vágy,
a fejedben: Szeress-e, ne szeress-e.

Magadban döntöd el. Én fájlalom,
hogy nem felelhetek, ha kérded: él-e.
Mert elfárad bennem a fájdalom,
elalszik, mint a gyermek s én is véle.

The inventory is ready

I trusted myself since the beginning.
He who owns nothing is not worth a lot,
certainly not more than the animal
that perishes forever.
When I was afraid, I stood my ground.
I was born, I blended in and I stood out.
I also paid for what was accounted for,
I loved whoever gave without charging.
When a lady would playfully lead me on,
I would truly believe her
— let her fulfil her desire!
I scrubbed ships, I pulled up buckets.
Amidst clever gentlemen, I played the fool.
I peddled windmills,<sup>24</sup> bread and books,
newspapers, verses — when it was easier.
Sometimes I hope I will die in a bed,
not in glorious battle, not on a slack rope.
Whatever happens, the inventory is now ready.
I lived, and others have already died from this.

Kész a leltár

Magamban bíztam eleitől fogva —
ha semmije sincs, nem is kerül sokba ez az embernek. Semmiképp se többbe, mint az állatnak, mely elhull örökre.
Ha féltem is, a helyemet megálltam —
születtem, elvegyültem és kiváltam.
Meg is fizettem, kinek ahogy mérte,
ki ingyen adott, azt szerettem érte.
Asszony ha játszott velem hitegetve:
hittem igazán — hadd teljen a kedve!
Sikáltam hajót, rántottam az ampát.
Okos urak közt játszottam a bambát.
Árultam forgót, kenyeret és könyvet,
ujságot, verset — mikor mi volt könnyebb.
Nem dicső harcban, nem szelíd kötélén,
de ágyban végzem, néha ezt remélem.
Akárhogyan lesz, immár kész a leltár.
Éltem — és ebbe más is belehalt már.

Put your hand

On my forehead
put your hand,
as if it were my hand.

Guard my life
like an executioner,
as if it were your life.

Love my heart
as if it were good,
as if it were your heart.

Tedd a kezed

Tedd a kezed
homlokomra,
mintha kezed
kezem volna.

Úgy őrizz, mint
ki gyilkolna,
mintha éltem
élted volna.

Úgy szeress, mint
ha jó volna,
mintha szívem
szíved volna.

The sea merely came

The blue beam
between the two poles of your breast
——— The acrobat's dream stands on it.

The clouds unravelled away,
so you wish you could take off,
and I already searched for you in the far ends.

My dream already flies
with the breath of calm, deep waters.
And the tasty pinecones keep falling
from the lonely, large pine trees.
And also the tallest grasses,
they already have well grown on the hills;
in their hearts, beautiful, green fires burn.

The tired beetles find their way home
when the evening falls,
and the Lord, with open hands,
knee-deep in the babbling peace,
stands at the end of their path...

But I am not tired, my dear —
the sea merely came to my doorstep.

Csak a tenger jött el

Melled két pólusa közt a kék sugár
— A kötél táncos álma áll azon.

A felhő elfoszlott, hogy föllegehess
és én már túlsokat kerestelek — Nyugodt, mély vizek lehetével száll már az enyém
s magányos, nagy fenyőmről hullong a jóhúsú toboz.

S a legmagosabb füvek is kinőttek már a dom-
bon,
szivükben szép, zöld tüzek égnek,
hogy az elfáradt bogarak mind hazatalálnak,
ha esteledik
S az Úr
nyitott tenyérrel, térdig csobogó nyugalom-
ban
ott áll az útjuk végén...

De én nem vagyok fáradt, kedvesem
— Csak a tenger jött el a küszöbömig.

The leaves in the tree

The leaves in the tree
slowly swing.
They already are crooked,
yellow, soft and drooping.

Amongst them a silent bird
moves up and down,
as if the tree were its cage.

Just so my soul too
keeps pacing inside me,
a muteness moving
from branch to branch.

I might be able to fly away
— I don't dare.
The twig bends and quivers,
the muteness awaits and paces.

A fán a levelek

A fán a levelek
lassan lengenek.
Már mind görbe, sárga
s konnyadt, puha.

Egy hallgatag madár
köztük föl-le jár,
mintha kalitkája
volna a fa.

Így csinál lelkem is.
Jár-kel bennem is,
ágról-ágra lépked
egy némaság.

Szállhatnék — nem merek.
Meghajlik, remeg
a gally, vár és lépked
a némaság.

You turned me into a child

You turned me into a child.
In vain the pain made me grow
through thirty creaking winters.
I don't know how to walk or sit still;
my limbs drag or push me towards you.

I keep you in my mouth like a dog its puppy
and I'd run away so they won't drown you.
The years that destroyed my fate
pour down on me at every moment.

Feed me, look at me: I am hungry.
Tuck me in: I am cold.
I am clueless: take care of me.
Your absence keeps blowing across
like a draught<sup>25</sup> in the house.
Talk to me — let the fear leave me.

You looked at me and I dropped everything.
You listened and my voice faltered.
Make me not so inexorable like this,
so that I know how to live and die alone!

My mother beat me up
— I lay down on the doorstep.
I would have hidden myself: impossible:
stone underneath me and void above.
Oh I wish I could fall asleep!
I knock at your house.

There are many unfeeling men alive
who nonetheless shed tears like me.
I love you very much because I was able to love myself very much with you.

Gyermekké tettél

Gyermekké tettél. Hiába növesztett harminc csikorgó télen át a kín.
Nem tudok járni s nem ülhetek veszteg.
Hozzád vonszolnak, löknek tagjaim.

Számban tartalak, mint kutya a kölykét
s menekülnék, hogy meg ne fojtsanak.
Az éveket, mik sorsom összetörték,
reám zúdítja minden pillanat.

Etess, nézd — éhezem. Takarj be — fázom.
Ostoba vagyok — foglalkozz velem.
Hiányod átjár, mint huzat a házon.
Mondd, — távozzon tőlem a félelem.

Reám néztél s én mindent elejtettem.
Meghallgattál és elakadt szavam.
Tedd, hogy ne legyek ily kérlelhetetlen;
hogy tudjak élni, halni egymagam!

Anyám kivert — a küszöbön feküdtem —
magamba bujtam volna, nem lehet —
alattam kő és üresség fölöttem.
Óh, hogy alhatnék! Nálad zörgetek.

Sok ember él, ki érzéketlen, mint én,
kinek szeméből mégis könny ered.
Nagyon szeretlek, hisz magamat szintén
nagyon meg tudtam szeretni veled.

Ever since

Ever since I caught sight of you,
the sun shines down on me more beautifully,
and since then the little nightingale
sings a hundredfold more beautifully.

Only your red lips keep mute
and no smile blooms on them,
I am the shadow of myself
for I may not kiss you.

Ever since I caught sight of you,
the fields are more fragrant,
and since then the proud rose bush
stands without thorns.

Only your soul became chillier,
only your heart became prouder
and my love kindled
the embers of despair.

Ever since I caught sight of you,
a sky of eternal spring has blossomed,
and since then no small bird
has been held captive by a little girl.

Only you held me as a prisoner,
and only my heart is all wounds;
with your name on my lips I die!
— so sweeter.

Amióta

Amióta megláttalak,
szebben süt a nap le rám
és azóta százszor szebben
dalol a kis csalogány.
csak a piros ajkad néma

s mosoly rajta nem fakad,
saját magam árnya vagyok,
hisz csókolnom nem szabad.

Amióta megláttalak,
illatosabb a mező
és azóta tövis nélkül
áll a büszke rózsatő.
Csak a lelked lett fagyosabb,
csak a szíved lett büszke
s szerelmemtől lobbant lángra
a kétségbeesés üszke.

Amióta megláttalak,
örök tavasz ég virul
és azóta kis madarat
kis leány nem tart rabul.
Csak te tartasz foglyul engem
s csak a szívem csupa seb;
a neveddel ajkaimon
halok meg! — úgy édesebb.

József Attila

He was cheerful and good, and perhaps stubborn when his truths were challenged.
He liked to eat and, somehow,
he was also compared to a god.
From a Jewish physician he received a coat,
and his relatives thusly named him:
I-Won't-See-You-Here-Again.
In the Greek Orthodox church
he found no peace, only priests.
His demise was a national loss.

But, well, don't be sad.

József Attila

Vidám és jó volt s tán konok,
ha bántották vélt igazában.
Szeretett enni s egyben másban
istenhez is hasonlított.
Egy zsidó orvostól kapott
kabátot és a rokonok
úgy hívták: Többé-itt-ne-lássam.
A görög-keleti vallásban
nyugalmat nem lelt, csak papot —
országos volt a pusztulásban,

no de hát ne búsuljatok.
